Canadians Take Town After Fierce Battle

Defence Plans Here Changed to Offensive As Canada Plans All-Out Pacific Attack

Norman M. MacLeod, chief parliamentary correspondent of the British United Press, has been on a tour of observation across the prairie provinces and on Canada's west coast. In the following dispatch sent out from Victoria on United Press wires to all parts of the world, he records the stupendous picture of all-out Pacific strategy which is shaping up on the west coast and in which Canadian forces are preparing to play both a dramatic and a significant role.

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
The lights on Canada's Pacific coast have come on again. And after several months of dimout they reveal a prospect that must be highly disturbing for Mr. Tojo to contemplate—even from a distance of more than 4,200 miles.

For not alone have all traces of the Japanese fears that gripped this coast after Pearl Harbor completely disappeared, the panicky defensive psychology that they bred totally has vanished.

In addition, a large-scale strategy of offensive warfare—literally a Pacific timetable of the United Nations with the same implications for Boss Tojo that the Mediterranean timetable had for Mussolini—has taken their place.

FOR A MAMMOTH OFFENSIVE

Naturally, the details of this timetable cannot be set forth here. They will become apparent in the weeks and months to come in concrete events which will rival the exploits of Tunisia and Sicily, or even the sensational successes along the Russian front. But the general picture into which they are to fit—the huge over-pattern of a plan of Pacific warfare that will spell annihilation for Japan—can now be sketched. For it is apparent to all observers who have the opportunity of witnessing first hand the significant developments now incubating in Canada's vital Pacific command. In truth, no one who saw this west coast, as did the writer, a short time after Pearl Harbor, can revisit it and survey it today without realizing that the sands of time are running out inexorably for Tojo in the preparations that are going forward here to co-operate in a mammoth all-out Pacific offensive.

PACIFIC RESPONSIBILITY

What, specifically, are the facts that proclaim Tojo's—and Japan's—waning destiny?

Fact No. 1 is that the Canadian government, in the naval, military and air preparations that are going forward on this west coast, is preparing to discharge fully Canada's responsibilities as a great Pacific power. There is plenty of evidence that the Ottawa authorities appreciate that Canada cannot claim a voice and interest in the settlement of the Pacific theatre at the peace conference if she leaves the fighting in the southern and west Pacific solely or even largely to United States and British forces. It was no accident that the Canadian government dispatched home defence troops to Kiska. It was, in effect, the Canadian government's declaration to Canadian citizens that Canada was a Pacific power and that military matters in the Pacific were something for which they had a direct responsibility.

TRAINING CHANGED

Fact No. 2 is that, in accordance with this recognition of Pacific interest and responsibility, Canadian naval, military and air forces are girding themselves all along this coast to play a major role in a tripartite United States, British, Canadian drive to sweep the Pacific clear of the spectre of Japanese might. Incidentally, it is transparent in this connection to observers here that the sixth and eighth home defence divisions have not been dismantled here recently in order that their men may be released to civilian life, but rather in order that the whole emphasis of west coast military training may be changed from home defence to preparation for a Pacific offensive. The men of these two divisions are still in uniform—but being trained now for a different purpose than was the case before Kiska.

Perhaps even more impressive than the military preparations which Canada in her newly-asserted status as a great Pacific power is putting forward in this area is the development in the north Pacific theatre of Canadian naval policy. The details of this development are still largely a strategic secret. It may be said generally, however, that the Canadian navy has undertaken a role of co-operation with the British fleet in the Pacific which may well parallel, in the naval history of the war, the importance of the co-operation rendered by the Canadian-born Commonwealth air training plan in the air history of the war. That Singapore is lost as a British navy base in the Pacific is a matter of tragic record. That Singapore's successor may be furnished by the Canadian navy somewhere on the north Pacific coast and that Canada's west coast may become, in brief, the lynch-pin of British-Canadian naval co-operation with the United States to retrieve the whole Pacific situation, is being freely predicted by observers here as the important and obvious goal of plans already rapidly nearing maturity.

Fact No. 3, finally, is that there is an air of preparedness and expectancy abroad among British Columbian ports these days. They are looking forward to a time not far distant when they will be points of embarkation and supply for forces dedicated to clearing the Pacific of Japanese power. Everything is being put in readiness. Loading equipment and facilities are in order. Port authorities, shipping men, dock workers are on the alert. They know that soon an important role in the making of history will be theirs. They are ready for that hour when it strikes.

Yes, the lights of Canada's Pacific coast are on again. But they are relit to a vastly different scene from the one of near-panic to which they went out several months ago. They are relit to a scene of naval, military and air might-in-the-making such as this side of the continent—in Canada at least—has never seen before.

Occupy Morise In Apennines; Nazis Mass Guns

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALGIERS (AP)—A cruiser and destroyers, pouring shells into Marshal Erwin Rommel's line of communication along the ancient Apennine Way, pounded the Minturo area to the rear of his Mount Massico positions. Allied headquarters announced today, as the British 8th and Allied 5th Armies punched out short advances in the face of massed artillery.

There was fighting all along the front stretching from the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Adriatic. On the 8th Army's front, Gen. Montgomery's veterans clashed with the enemy on the Adriatic coast road near San Salvo, two miles north of the Trigno River and three miles inland, where the Germans were making every effort to prevent enlargement of the shallow Allied bridgehead north of the stream.

Fifteen miles inland, where Gen. Montgomery's warriors have not yet reached the Trigno, 8th Army units occupied Montefalcone after a five-mile advance from Castelmauro.

Still farther inland, the left wing of Gen. Montgomery's forces—the wing with which the Canadian 1st Division is identified—captured Molise, on a 2,500-foot mountain one mile west of Turrella del Sannio, capture of which was announced Thursday.

Drive Up Highway Toward Isernia

Molise is about 18 miles east and slightly north of the mountain communications centre of Isernia, where the Germans had natural defences. In this area, in the mountains of the Apennines, Italy's rugged "backbone," the Canadians are believed to be driving up a highway toward Isernia, as well as infiltrating the hills to the northeast.

Today's communique said the Canadians, as well as the British troops of the 8th Army, had made "additional short advances." It did not identify the troops—possibly Canadians—who took Molise.

(A short time later a delayed dispatch from William Stewart, Canadian Press war correspondent with the Canadians in Italy, disclosed that troops of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment captured Molise Oct. 27 and that the 48th Highlanders of Canada—a Toronto unit—occupied another town nearby. Possibly this was Turrella del Sannio. (Stewart also disclosed that the Royal Canadian Regiment Oct. 26 occupied a third town, which he did not name. The three units, with six other Canadian infantry battalions, fought throughout the Sicilian campaign and on the Italian mainland and the nine together make up the Canadian 1st Division operating on the left wing of the British 8th Army.)

Fighting through a driving rain, Lt.-Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army smashed up mountainsides for a gain of three miles in the Sparanise area. They threatened the town of Teano, where four roads join to the east of Mount Massico, the lofty anchor of the Rommel line defending Rome. Teano is 94 miles southeast of the Italian capital.

All gains were scored despite scientifically directed fire of massed German heavy and medium artillery placed in the hills where it would cover every approach. Bad weather washed out much of the Allied air support.

Strike Organizers At Shawinigan Held

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—Philip Cutler and Jean Jodoin, organizers for the American Federation of Labor, today were arrested on charges of impeding the war effort in connection with a partial strike of Aluminum Company of Canada employees in two plants here.

Both men were remanded until Nov. 3 without bail, after pleading not guilty to the charges. They appeared in court in nearby Three Rivers.

Stalin Gets Report on Britain; F.D.R. Says Parley Great Success

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Marshal Stalin had before him today the full details of the British military position as the Tripartite Conference went through its 10th day.

It was learned that a report was given Stalin by Foreign Secretary Eden and Lt.-Gen. Hastings Ismay, deputy secretary to the war cabinet for military affairs, when they saw Stalin at the Kremlin Wednesday night.

Meanwhile United States spokesmen repeated to a press conference today most of State Secretary Cordell Hull's radio address of Sept. 11, praising the Soviet, and said with marked emphasis: "It can still be said this goes."

In that speech Hull praised the Soviet Union's fight and said "it is our desire and our settled policy that collaboration and co-operation between our two countries shall steadily increase during and following the war."

The Stalin-Eden interview was reported to have consisted of question and answer in a cordial atmosphere. Stalin also has talked with Hull.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt today said the Moscow conference has been a great success and he indicated it was in its final phases where formal documents of agreement are being drafted.

Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference also that he was very much in favor of a Senate declaration that, to avoid war in the future, this country will co-operate with others. But he did not care to say that the Connally resolution under discussion in the Senate was adequate.

The chief executive asserted the net results of the meeting of the Russian, British and U.S. foreign ministers make it a tremendous success not only from the point of view of definite items of agreement but also from the standpoint of the spirit of it.

The overall objective, of course, is peace in the world and the end of aggression. That is far and away the most important thing before the conferees, Mr. Roosevelt said.

They were attempting, he said, to work toward the objective of unanimity, not only on the progress of the war, but also in the transition period afterward. The conference, he said, had been engaged in big things rather than in crossing t's and dotting i's.

Russ Tank Force Crushing Heavily On Krivoi Rog

LONDON (CP)—A mighty Russian tank force crushing down on Krivoi Rog, strategic Dnieper loop city, from the north, began its second day of battle today with German armor for possession of the iron mine and rail centre.

The battle is "still in full progress," the German high command communique said. The Nazis claimed they had destroyed 115 Russian tanks.

South of the Dnieper loop, Red Army troops were plunging across the wide steppes of the southern Ukraine less than 60 miles from Perekop, last door of escape open to the Nazi Crimean garrison, Moscow said.

GOAL WITHIN WEEK

The Russians, advancing at a rate of from 12 to 18 miles a day, would reach the gates of Perekop within a week if that pace is maintained.

Capture of the village of Nizhne-Saragovsk, highway junction in the heart of the steppe country, 46 miles west of Melitopol and 44 miles from the Dnieper River town of Kakhovka, cleared the way for the rapid westward surge.

At Krivoi Rog, big mining and industrial centre northwest of Melitopol, a strengthened German garrison was stubbornly resisting massed Russian assaults from three sides, but capture of the city appeared inevitable.

B.C.'s Population Shows Big Jump

A general population advance in almost every town in the province is reported in the 1943 British Columbia directory, just issued.

Greater Victoria's civilian population is listed at 88,000, compared with the 1942 figure of 76,108. Greater Vancouver's 1943 total is 407,634.

One of the largest increases is shown for Dawson Creek, which shot from 842 in 1942 to 6,572 in 1943.

Other present populations with 1942 figures in brackets follow: Prince Rupert, 12,660 (6,656); Trail, 12,771 (9,598); Nelson, 7,165 (5,796); Kelowna, 8,945 (5,047).

Plan Forest Research Institute

A forest research institute for B.C. as a joint establishment of the Dominion, the province and the lumber industry is being considered, Premier John Hart and Lands Minister A. Wells Gray said today following a cabinet meeting.

Such an institute would be part of a postwar reconstruction program, the ministers said, and would be designed to service B.C. needs in an adequate and continuing manner.

"It has been suggested that a building to house the institute and erected at U.B.C. might be included in the federal government's postwar program, and that the present forest products laboratory should be absorbed in the new organization," a joint statement from Mr. Hart and Mr. Gray said. "The stability and expansion of the forest products industry is a matter of primary importance to British Columbia. Many serious problems are facing the industry and there is joint agreement that a comprehensive program of research must be developed."

D. Roy Cameron, Dominion forester, and C. D. Orchard, chief forester of B.C., have had preliminary discussions on this proposal with U.B.C. president, L. S. Klinck, and with representatives of forest industries.

Crews Resume Work

VANCOUVER (CP)—Crews of three Park steamships who went on strike for an increase in wages and recognition of their union have decided to sail with their ships pending further negotiations with the company, J. M. Smith, secretary of the Deepsea and Inland Boatmen's Union of the Pacific, announced today.

"Crew of one ship went back to work Wednesday, and the crews of two others now are working," he said. "When other ships arrive the case of the crews will be taken up, but I do not anticipate any trouble."

"We will continue to negotiate for union recognition," Federal officials have authorized wage increases.

Defence Hints Sunburn Caused Singed Hairs on De Marigny's Arms

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—By implication, the defence suggested today that sunburn may have accounted for the singed and curled hairs reported found on the body of yachtman Alfred de Marigny after the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes.

De Marigny, on trial in the Bahamas Supreme Court for the murder of his rich father-in-law, rolled up a sleeve and rubbed the hairs on his arm as Godfrey S. Higgs, chief defence counsel, suddenly took a new tack in his cross-examination of Capt. James O. Barker of the Miami police.

USED MICROSCOPE

Barker told of making a microscopic examination of the defendant's arms, hands, face and head some 12 hours after the burned and beaten body of Sir Harry was found last July 8 in a bedroom of his seaside villa, Westbourne.

He previously had expressed the opinion that the attackers, who tried to start a fire in Sir

Harry's bedroom in an apparent attempt to make the death seem accidental, probably would have suffered burns. Higgs brought out today that many burned hairs were found on De Marigny's face and head, as well as on his hands and arms, then unexpectedly asked:

"Could sunburn cause this brilliance of the hairs?"

"I don't deny that," Barker replied, adding that he had been impressed by the absence of sunburn on De Marigny's skin.

"Nobody told you he was a yachtman?" demanded Higgs.

De Marigny's face wrinkled into a wide smile.

PARTLY BURNED

"I don't recall seeing hairs any place on the accused man's body which were burned all the way to the skin," Barker continued.

Higgs had turned for the moment away from a disputed fingerprint, with which the prosecution seeks to tie together its case against De Marigny.

Pictures Disclose Raid On Austria Highly Effective

By EDWARD KENNEDY
ALGIERS (AP)—In the first Allied announcement of details of last Sunday's raid on Austria by heavy bombers escorted by Italy-based fighters, a headquarters communique today said photo reconnaissance disclosed considerable damage to freight yards and nearby structures at Ebenfurt, seven miles north of Wiener Neustadt.

Four-engine planes planted high explosives squarely in the central sections of the railway yard and on tracks leading to the yard from two directions. Several rail lines were reported severed and rolling stock was damaged heavily. Wiener Neustadt, site of a large German aircraft factory, had been hard hit in previous raids.

Allied fighters, along with bombers, ranged out again Thursday to attack road junctions, trains, bridges and enemy positions along the battle area in Italy. Landing fields near Orvieto, Littonia and Foligno were attacked by fighter-bombers. Two enemy planes attempting to intercept the Allied raiders were shot down during the day. There were no losses for the Allies.

Planes based in the Middle East continued their attacks on enemy positions and transport in the Aegean by day and night Thursday, with heavy bombers raiding the Haritza airfield on Rhodes and five small vessels in Stampalia Harbor.

A large fire was left burning on the island of Rhodes by night raiders and high explosives lifted debris from the enemy vessels high in the air and left considerable wreckage floating on the water in daylight raids.

The attacks followed up the Wednesday night assault on the Heraklion airfield on Crete in which large explosions were observed in the aircraft dispersal area.

Three planes were lost in the attacks in the Aegean area.

10th Day's Total For Victory Loan Goes Below Average

OTTAWA (CP)—Thursday subscriptions to the Fifth Victory Loan totaled $39,840,000, bringing to $703,297,150 the cumulative total after 10 days of the three-week campaign for $1,200,000,000. National Loan headquarters reported today.

"The 10th day's yield was lower than average and lower than had been expected," said today's press statement, reporting that the corresponding totals in last spring's $1,100,000,000 Fourth Victory Loan were $66,737,100 and $830,840,000.

"General sales to the public have been rather low during the past three days. They have not fallen materially below the corresponding days of the Fourth Victory Loan, but in the Fifth Loan the aim is to increase the number of subscribers and also to increase the dollar amount considerably so that the objective of $525,000,000 from the public may be realized."

Confederation Life Association of Toronto, with an investment of $6,500,000, led special names' subscriptions announced today. Lever Bros. Ltd. of Toronto invested $1,000,000 and Massey Harris Co. Ltd., Toronto, $4,000,000.

FORCES SOAR HIGH

The armed services have more than $22,799,200 after less than 10 days' canvassing. Far from complete, the Royal Canadian Navy's standing is considerably more than $2,964,000. Atlantic Command has boosted its total to $1,756,500 against a quota of $1,400,000.

The army is over the 100 per cent mark with $104,920,200 against an objective of $100,000,000. It went over the top with receipt of $1,083,850 in overseas subscriptions, exclusive of $169,000 from Kiska.

A total of $2,620,000 for No. 1 training command, Toronto, eased the R.C.A.F.'s grand total over the $10,000,000 line to $10,013,350—$338,600 more than it raised in the whole of the last loan.

Lethbridge today was claiming the honor of being the first prairie city to go over the top. Late Thursday night the city topped its quota of $1,464,000 by $148,500 and had exceeded its objective in both general canvass and special names.

Cities having more than 55 per cent of objective with 55 per cent of the canvassing time gone, include Vancouver 65.7 per cent. Other standings: Edmonton, 54.6; Saskatoon, 50.6; Moose Jaw 50; Victoria, 46.02; Regina, 43.1; Calgary, 38; and Medicine Hat, 7.17, with 73.88 of the total objective.

Loneragan Says He Slew Wife In Argument Over Baby

SLAIN HEIRESS AND HUSBAND—Mrs. Patricia Burton Loneragan, and her husband, AC2 Wayne Loneragan. They were married in September, 1941. Twenty-two years of age, she was part heiress to the $4,000,000 Bernheimer brewing fortune.

HELD AS WITNESS—Mario Gabbelline, 43, interior decorator, Mrs. Loneragan's companion the night before her murder. DATED CONFESSED SLAYER—Blonde actress Jeanne Murphy, questioned by police.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wayne Loneragan was held without bail for hearing next Friday when arraigned today in homicide court on a short affidavit charging him with the slaying of his heiress wife.

The affidavit, signed by Detective William Prendergast, charges that Loneragan "did beat and choke and strangle one Patricia Burton Loneragan, his wife" about 9 a.m., Oct. 24, in her Beekman Hill apartment.

Earlier, Loneragan had appeared in a police line-up. "Wayne, did you make a statement to the district attorney regarding this case?" asked Acting Captain Edward Dillon sternly.

"Yes, I did," answered the strapping 25-year-old AC2 in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"Were you ever in trouble before?" inquired Dillon.

"No, sir," answered Loneragan. After his brief appearance in police headquarters Loneragan was hurried to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's office, where Hogan had announced late Thursday that the one-time playboy had confessed killing his wife by striking her with two heavy brass candlesticks and strangling her last Sunday.

Police have reported finding fingerprints on the candlesticks, but there has been no announcement they have been compared with Loneragan's.

DRAG RIVER

As a result of the developments, police today were dragging the East River near 79th Street, where Hogan said Loneragan had admitted throwing his service uniform. Loneragan earlier had said it was stolen by a soldier he had befriended Sunday morning.

Hogan said Loneragan gave as his reason for the crime his wife's refusal to let him see their 18-month-old son, Wayne William Loneragan, who lay asleep in another room in the Loneragan apartment.

When he was booked Thursday night he tersely commented: "I'm sorry for the whole thing."

ASKED FOR BABY

The police said Loneragan's statement of events at the murder scene was as follows:

He knocked at the door, his wife admitted him. He inquired where the baby was and was told: "He's in bed. Don't go in."

"Well, I want to go in," Loneragan insisted. "No, don't go in," his wife asserted. "You'll disturb him. Come back later and see him."

"I can't," the husband answered. "I have a luncheon date with a girl."

Loneragan had his hand on his cap, which was on a dresser, and was about to leave, when his wife said: "You're not going to see the baby again."

Boy in Toronto On Way to Operation

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. N. Gilliland of New Westminster arrived here today with her eight-year-old son Melvin on the way to Philadelphia, where they hope experts at Temple University Hospital will be able to remove a fence staple from the B.C. boy's lung. The Philadelphia hospital specializes in this type of operation.

The staple, which has prongs 1/4-inch long, has been in the boy's lung since he swallowed it in a fall from a see-saw more than a year ago. He has been in hospital several times already to have the lung drained.

Melvin, who didn't know of the staple until several months after the accident, was busy today trying out a Halloween mask. But he said: "I guess there won't be many treats this Halloween. It said in the paper that the kids shouldn't ask this year because of the war, and a good thing, too."

The bitter internal strife which is beginning to rend numerous European countries is symptomatic of vast political changes which the war's end will bring in many parts of the tortured continent.

The outstanding example of the moment is Yugoslavia, where a quarrel among brothers is in the news again.

The Europe we knew before this war is on its way out—in fact, it already has gone.

A fair explanation of what sort of ferment is at work was given the other day by Premier Badoglio, who is head of the cobelligerent Italian government. One might be rash in accepting all Badoglio's words as golden, but he called the turn when he told the British "8th Army News" publication: "People are excited and overwrought after the distress of war. If conditions are too bad and they are without hope they turn to other presumed cures."

ITALY DIVIDED

Italy itself is torn with political factions, even while the war tramples the peninsula. Some want to get rid of the Royal house; others are trying to shore up the shaky foundations. Some desire a republic, and Communism has an active following.

In Yugoslavia, even while the Germans are trying to destroy the country, we have a fierce quarrel between the forces of Gen. Josip (Dr. Tito) Broz and the army of Gen. Mihailovic, who is minister of war in young King Peter's government which now has its seat in Cairo. Each accuses the other of making fratricidal warfare. Dr. Tito wears the emblems of Communism, as do most of his troops.

In neighboring Greece, native guerrilla armies are fighting each other despite the fact that starvation ravages the country. You can understand that if you know your Greeks, for they are political minded. They are fiercely independent, too, and whatever form of government they choose, we may be sure it will be one which the people run themselves.

BULGARIA TO REVOLT

Neighboring Bulgaria, whose King Boris was assassinated recently, is in a state of political upheaval. There will be a revolt as soon as the Fuehrer's hand is raised from the unhappy land.

Western Europe is likely to produce even more far-reaching changes. A great political storm is brewing in France, and it will be fortunate indeed if it is restricted to a quarrel of words. Over the French border in Spain, Gen. Franco's little boat is rocking.

The greatest change, of course, is coming in Germany—forced by the Allies. We naturally don't see many signs of political strife there now, but the end of the war is likely to bring a terrific storm. Some say Hitler is inspiring the political fights in other countries. It strikes me he is merely exploiting situations which already existed.

Sky Dreadnaught, 'Secret Weapon,' Ready for 1944

WASHINGTON (Special)—A bigger, better, blasting bomber is being born which will smash at the Axis and Japanese Empire with more deadly power than the Boeing Flying Fortress B-17 and the Consolidated Liberator B-24. An unspecified number of these new "super-bombers," carrying more explosives, heavier firepower and having a greater range than any existing warplane, have already been delivered.

Details are still military secrets. Future reports will tell how big, cruising range, how high it flies, number of these planes scheduled for production, how long it takes to build and get into combat, if any are as yet in actual combat, number of men required for each crew, what guns and how many engines.

The deadly new air giant has been identified as the B-29. However, the War Department has no official word to offer on the new super-bomber and does not even acknowledge its designation as the B-29.

SUPER BATTLE-WAGON

This much is official from the Office of War Information: "Already in production and scheduled for entry into combat by the spring of 1944 is a considerably larger and more potent bomber which will eventually take over the job of super long-range bombing."

The same OWI report points out that the big B-1's and B-2's are now sometimes referred to in the air forces as "the last of the small heavies."

The super-bombers are powered by Cyclone 18 engines, built by a plant of Wright Aeronautical Corporation.

The first hint the public had of the giant bomber came some months ago from Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air forces, who spoke of "a secret weapon or two up our aerial sleeves that will deal paralyzing blows to our enemies" and predicted that entirely new "battle-wagons" are on the way.

10 TONS FOR FORTRESSES

According to a recent report, the Flying Fortress also is undergoing changes to increase its bomb load to 10 tons, making it the heaviest in the world—until, presumably, the new super dreadnaught of the sky gets into the fighting.

The box score by plane types issued by OWI shows that among army planes the heavy bombers have the best record. Aircraft production figures for the past several months indicate an increase of heavy bombers over other type aircraft being built.

New Wage Controls Hinted By W.L.B.

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, chairman of the National War Labor Board, said today that present wage controls have proved "inadequate" and to combat a "dangerously high" movement of wages "another and more simple anchorage" must be found and "we must start all over again."

Dealing with wage controls and general labor problems in an address at the annual meeting here of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Chairman McTague said Canada had been "singularly backward" in dealing with the problem of collective bargaining and now was in a position similar to that of the United States before the passage of the Wagner Act. But it did not follow that Canada should "slavishly" follow the United States in legislation.

Goebbels Says Bombings Nazis' Worst Affliction

LONDON (CP)—Propaganda Minister Goebbels has told the German people Soviet Russia is "the real danger of this war," but that at far as the home front is concerned Allied bombings "represent the lion's share of our troubles."

He asserted "there are no signs of military or moral collapse."

Goebbels made the statements in a Das Reich article quoted by the Berlin radio.

Allied propaganda, he said, had set Nov. 11 as the day of Germany's collapse—but "the enemy's mind is still dwelling on the realities of the first World War, and is, therefore, disinclined to believe that today he is facing a totally different people."

R. P. Butchart

MR. BUTCHART IS GONE. HE WAS Victoria's first citizen not only on the official rolls of the municipal corporation, but in the hearts of the people of the community. He was, too, Victoria's most widely-known citizen to the outside world. No matter where in the world one went, it seems there would be someone who would mention Mr. Butchart and the gardens. People in distant parts who knew nothing of Victoria except its name would identify this city as the spot favored with the Butchart gardens. World-wide was the esteem in which he was held. Yet he was the most modest and self-effacing of men. He died Wednesday and was buried privately yesterday before the public was permitted to know anything about his passing. It was typical of his aversion to anything suggestive of ostentation. He never wanted to put people to any trouble, least of all over himself. It is already being suggested, however, that a public memorial service be held. Victorians would like to have an opportunity that might thus be provided of paying tribute to the man and his good works.

He and the gracious lady who shared his life for nearly 60 years and who now survives him have appropriately been called Victoria's best-loved pair. It is impossible to write of one without the other, so perfectly attuned and integrated were they in their life partnership. They established here one of the great industries of the coast. Yet that and the affluence it brought them did not satisfy their sense of higher values. It was because of the genuine pleasure taken by both of them in doing something that would give pleasure and benefit to others that they insisted on developing and maintaining the grounds at their Benvenuto home and sharing the beauty and inspiration there with the public. Their kindheartedness found expression in untold other ways which have never been publicized. They confessed their fondness for people. None but genuine lovers of humanity could have done as they have. When Mr. Butchart was created a Freeman of the City of Victoria, it was an expression of affection and gratitude equally towards both, on the part of a public far wider than the mere population of Victoria and of British Columbia. Even at that it was felt it was inadequate to convey the measure of appreciation which the great-heartedness and public-spiritedness of Mr.
and Mrs. Butchart evoked.

Not long ago on the occasion of his birthday anniversary, Mrs. Butchart wrote for him a personal note of thanks to the editor of the Times for an article he had published.
"He feels," she wrote, "that he is in the front line moving into no man's land to eternity beyond and that friends remain the best of life." He has now crossed over, with a community's friendship and affection transcending death.

Perhaps Dr. H. J. T. Coleman, former dean of arts at the University of British Columbia, best expressed the public regard for Mr. and Mrs. Butchart when on a visit to Benvenuto he wrote of them:

God gave the earth to glorify,
Green field and wooded hill.
But I would render thanks for those Who made earth fairer still.

And lest man might forget the stars
That shine the night away,
God made the flowers, starry-eyed,
To shine for Him by day.

When God made other living things,
He thought of magic words
That men might never learn to speak
And taught them to the birds.

And when God thought to make of man
Of all His works the warden,
He tuned his soul to beauty's note
And set him in a garden.

So this is proof that they are Kings
And Queens by ancient right
Who clothe the earth's nakedness and scars
With garments of delight.

The 1943 Crop Outlook

CROPS IN CANADA DURING THE present year, with the exception of flaxseed, will be substantially below the 1942 level. According to a report published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the output of wheat for 1943 will amount to 296,259,000 bushels as compared with a yield of 592,684,000 during 1942. This year's production, therefore, will be equal to only 50 per cent of the 1942 harvest. The yield per acre is estimated at 16.9 bushels and is slightly above the long-time average but, compared with 1942, it is 10.5 bushels per acre less for all classes of wheat.

The larger acreage seeded to oats and barley has been to some extent offset by the lower yields per acre. Production of oats this year is estimated at 499,609,000 bushels, a reduction of approximately 152, 000,000 bushels from the 1942 harvest. The barley crop is estimated at 222,655,000 bushels, which is 36,500,000 bushels smaller than a year ago. And clover crops, on the other hand, will be larger than last year in four out of the nine provinces and total production will be 1,144,000 tons greater than in 1942.

'Combined Operations'

AS DAY FOLLOWS NIGHT, AND NIGHT follows day, the R.A.F., the R.C.A.F. and the U.S.A.A.F. follow one another in the round-the-clock process reducing German war potential to ashes. This is an aspect of combined Anglo-American strategy which all, who have eyes to see and ears to hear, can understand. But it is only one of many. Combined strategy goes much further back and covers much wider fields. Because they are less dramatic than action on the fighting fronts, some of these aspects of combined strategy are often forgotten. They include:

Food—A Combined Food Board sits in Washington, with a counterpart in London, to decide on the allocation of food supplies respectively to the armed forces and to civil populations actively engaged in the war.
Before long, we hope, the starved peoples of countries liberated from the Axis will also come under its purview.

Raw Materials—A Combined Raw Materials Board, with one American and one British member, plans the best use of raw materials available to the United States and the British Commonwealth. It first ensures that there shall be no competition between allies for the raw materials available; next, allocates the raw materials according to need.

Shipping—A Combined Shipping Adjustment Board sits in two parts, one in Washington and one in London, to allocate ships for food and raw materials as well as for troops and armament. This board decided, for example, how many British ships should carry American or British troops in the Mediterranean operations and what tanker tonnage should be used to carry oil from the British oilfields in Trinidad.

Production—A Combined Production and Resources Board, representing the United States, the United Kingdom, and Canada, integrates the production of the three countries and sees to it that the best use is made of the resources of each.

"Combined Operations" in farm and factory have completely altered the normal flow of trade between the nations, just as war has altered the everyday life of all the peoples engaged in it. It is the view of the British government, however, recently expressed by the President of the Board of Trade, that war measures should be regarded as war measures only, that "neither the United Kingdom nor the United States should gain any advantage in world markets at the expense of the other by reason of the sacrifices made in the interests of the effective prosecution of the war."

Italy's Art Treasures

ONCE, WHEN LEAVING ITALY, ANAtole France tried to smuggle out an antique bronze head. The Italian customs official discovered it, and should have fined him. Instead, he shrugged his shoulders and said: "Take it. We have plenty of beautiful things."

That was in the days before the Axis had introduced the benefits of total war to Europe. Today, much care is needed to ensure that Italy will still have "plenty of beautiful things" for the delight and instruction of mankind when the war is over.
The care is being given by British and American experts. An archaeological adviser is being appointed in Britain for this purpose, and lists of Italian ancient and aesthetic monuments have been prepared.

In occupied Italian territory British and American experts are already at work. The British officers, now there or provisionally selected, are drawn from the British Museum, the Inspectorate of Ancient Monuments, the National Gallery and the Royal Institute of British Architects. They are given detailed instructions about the guarding of museums and other buildings containing works of art. When possible, the Italian curators and staffs are retained.
Troops are forbidden to enter these buildings. In areas of operational activity, some damage is, of course, unavoidable. But temporary repairs, sufficient to prevent further damage, or theft of the contents of buildings of artistic or archaeological interest, are made immediately.

Autumn leaves now look almost as wonderful as those we colored in kindergarten.

It is not too early for a man to decide what he is going to give his wife for Christmas—so she may change her mind in time.

We do not gloat over destruction of German cities. But, as Sir Archibald Sinclair, British Secretary for Air, says, "Half-measures are cruel in war; they prolong the agony and by prolonging it, waste life."

For the Nazi leaders, the spectre of total defeat draws closer. Their only chance appears to be through prolonged last-ditch resistance calculated to weary us and win time for a possible falling-out between Russia on one hand and Britain and the United States on the other. Germany's only hope for an avenue of escape is through cracks in our Allied political and military strategy. This is a point that cannot be stated too often or emphasized too much.

The United Nations have been handicapped from the beginning by the fact that they approach war with certain humanitarian reservations. They decline to be the first to act like savages. They refuse, often, even to prepare to repay savagery with savagery when, in the long run, such tactics would make for earlier peace. Thus Britain declined a rocket glider bomb in 1938, a year before the invasion of Poland, because its use would have involved indiscriminate destructions. The Germans had no such compunction. They are using such a weapon.
But we do not even have it ready now. If we lost the war, we might wonder whether such decency was worth while. Winning it, we can be proud of our humanness.

25 YEARS OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA

THE REPUBLIC OF Czechoslovakia, the 25th anniversary of whose founding is being observed today, fell because the great powers had failed to establish a strong European system in which she could live; and she fell because although she never betrayed anyone, she was betrayed. Czechoslovakia was a democratic republic. Her internal economic life was conducted according to the most impeccable bourgeois standards. This state, which maintained admirable and strong defences, never had an unbalanced budget. Masaryk's ideal was Jeffersonian; he believed in the widespread distribution of private property. Czechoslovakia was the one country in eastern and central Europe whose currency did not vanish in an apocalyptic inflation. It was the one country that initiated and carried through genuine land reforms with the purpose of establishing a prosperous and self-respecting peasantry. It was the one country without any imperialistic aims. And it was the one small country to produce statesmen whose voice was repeatedly heard throughout Europe. Benes was repeatedly President of the League of Nations. And he, like his great predecessor, was, and still is,
a statesman who never saw his own country as the centre of the world, but as but one member of a European community. It was no wonder that Hitler, who hates Europe, should hate with a peculiar virulence so European a mind as that of Benes.

HOME FOR LIBERTY

CZECHOSLOVAKIA WAS a tolerant country. It welcomed the foreigner, and above all, it welcomed the persecuted.
When the Hitler regime came in and began driving out not only Jewish but liberal and humanist intellectuals, Czechoslovakia not only took them in, but did for the most useful of them, a unique service, performed by no other people on this earth: It made them citizens. This country that has been called anti-German gave citizenship without any process of naturalization, to Thomas and Heinrich Mann, and many others.
Prague became the centre of the humanistic and pro-European German tradition. And this little country, with every reason to fear its mighty Hitlerite neighbor, was not reduced by fear to the suppression of free speech, free assembly and free criticism.
Mr. Roosevelt's four freedoms existed in Czechoslovakia. Nothing more has to be done in that part of the world for the four freedoms, than to restore the Czechoslovak Republic.

I was many times in Czechoslovakia and I always felt at home there. In fact, during all those terrible and shameful days leading to Munich, I felt that I was, personally, in imminent danger of losing one of these homes which, regardless of language, belong to all who love liberty, order, justice and progress. I confess now that at the time of that crisis, and following an insistent impulse, I cabled to Prague to offer my services to the Republic. I was not at all clear what my services might be, I felt that perhaps I could help articulate for the English-speaking world, from Prague, the disaster that would surely overcome it, if it betrayed this state, of its own spiritual kinship. I never doubted for an instant, that Munich would mean, not peace, but world-wide war. Nor do I doubt now that a free co-operative Europe can be built without making good that betrayal of 1938.

BASTION OF PEACE

CZECHOSLOVAKIA will be one of the strongest bastions of peace in a postwar world. For if there is to be real peace, total peace, it can only be achieved by a permanent understanding between the western powers and Russia. Of all the small nations of central Europe, none realizes this more clearly and realistically than Czechoslovakia. It is no small task, no easy task, to create such a permanent understanding, and we need help. But here is the most western Slavic nation of Europe. It is on the most friendly terms with Russia and with us. It has never feared Bolshevism nor had reason to fear it, for Bolshevism springs out of breakdown and anarchy, never out of democratic disciplines and material well-being that were characteristic of the Czechoslovaks as long as they governed themselves. A restored Czechoslovakia can be the bridge between ourselves and Russia—the bridge that blown up at Munich, made the German aggression inevitable.

The Czechoslovak leaders are aware of this. And, in particular, the foreign minister, Jan Masaryk, carries on the tradition of his father in being a great Czechoslovak, a great European and a straightforward
recognizer of the importance of Russia.
Thomas Masaryk recognized this. He was a Russian scholar—this pupil of Jefferson —an encyclopedic mind. He wrote one of the finest books in existence on Russia, recognizing the spirit and soul of Russia, that is eternal and great.

TRUTH PREVAILS

IN THIS WAR, as in the last one, thousands of Czechoslovaks have traveled half way around the world to enlist in the ranks of the United Nations. I had the pleasure in England of spending a day with the small but superbly trained and equipped Czechoslovak army, which even now is waiting for its call. I never saw cleaner or more orderly barracks, all of which are built by the soldiers themselves. Their officers are housed in an Elizabethan house—a copy of an Elizabethan house—owned by an American. The Czechoslovak flag flies over that house; inside it pictures of Czechoslovak leaders, framed in wreaths of evergreens and flowers, give a curiously un-English look to the scene.
And picked out on the lawn on the day I visited them, small yellow flowers laughed up from the green; spelling out that wonderful, affirmative Czechoslovak national motto —that motto that might be the motto of all of us: "Truth prevails!"

It is my faith and hope and my conviction that Truth Will Prevail, and that I may one day have the great pleasure of seeing Prague, and looking up to Hradecny, see the red, white and blue of your familiar flag, flying proudly and happily over the little land of the free and home of the brave.

'Tea at Empress'

(Norman MacLeod, head of the B.U.P. at Ottawa, on a visit to Victoria, has written the following dispatch, which has gone out on the United Press wires throughout the world.)

VICTORIA (UP)—You still drink your afternoon tea in the gracious and splendidly imperturbable Empress Hotel here, but you drink it now less desperately and with less conscious sangroid than you did in the weeks and months after Pearl Harbor.
The chances are now that if the orchestra plays a Strauss waltz you listen to its lilting melody, instead of thinking of the coming night's dimout, and wondering if it will bring a raiding Japanese plane, or even a Japanese invading force.

As you drink your tea in the Empress these days you realize suddenly how, in this most English city of all Canada, afternoon tea became the symbol of a way of life after Pearl Harbor. Before that it was simply a way of life.
New York might have its cocktail hour at the Waldorf or at the Ritz. Victoria was different. It had its tea hour at the Empress. That was all there was to it. Then came Pearl Harbor. Japanese fears grew. The lights dimmed, or went out. The enemy landed in the Aleutians and the nights were filled with fears of new invading forces landing anywhere along the innumerable beach-heads of this island. It was then that tea hour at the Empress, with the orchestra mixing patriotic airs sometimes now with its repertoire of string music, became a very self-conscious occasion. The people of Victoria attended it as to a rite.

It is a rite no longer. The fear of Japanese invasion is over. Tea at the Empress has sunk to its old comfortable status of being just a way of life, shorn of any symbolism. Nor is there any danger that, now that its symbolism no longer haunts it, it will linger and die.

BBC warns the people of

The Nazis delay sounding the men will be killed, says BBC.

CHLORINATION PROBLEM

The purpose of chlorination as I understand it is to kill bacteria. Successful operation of a septic tank is dependent upon bacteria but if this is destroyed by chlorination what will be the result to the sanitary system of Saanich?

If some authority on this subject would shed light on this question it would be appreciated by the Saanich Ratepayers' Association.

F. WILLMORE,

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A mother's hope and faith, surviving 18 years of disappointment, at last have brought back her son.

The mother, Mrs. Jewel Peters of Tulsa, Okla., and her son, Pte. Harry Hensley Jr., 20, of the U.S. Marine Corps, met Thursday for the first time since he was 26 months old.

Mrs. Peters' search started 18 years ago following the disappearance of the father and two-year-old boy after a Tulsa court had granted a divorce decree.

She wrote Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938 seeking aid in locating her former husband, who was an army cook in the first Great War. Mrs. Roosevelt turned the letter over the U.S. Adjutant-General, and Hensley was traced through the veterans' department to Blythe, Calif.

A missing persons' bureau in Oklahoma City finally located the man.

"Oh, at last I've found you!" Mrs. Peters exclaimed as she threw her arms around him.

"Gee," said her son.

Truck Driver Wins Race With Stork

Despite wartime transportation difficulties a Cedar Hill Road resident Thursday morning won by 15 minutes a race with the stork to Royal Jubilee Hospital maternity ward.

Unable to get a taxi at 5 in the morning the anguished father-to-be, waving his arms and shouting, stopped an Alert Service Co. truck driven by Donald Swayne. After an excited explanation the truck was commandeered to take the man's wife to hospital.

The child was born 15 minutes after the truck arrived at the hospital.

LOOKS as if all the talk and excitement caused over the possible reopening of the Vancouver Forum in time for hockey this winter may blow up in one giant bubble. When military authorities announced they intended to turn back the building to the exhibition association there was much future over the prospect of again playing hockey in the Hastings Park ice house. Officials of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association agreed to re-draft the schedule, if necessary, and the Vancouver St. Regis and R.C.A.F. clubs had visions of having their own home ice.

Now we see where W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the exhibition association, has come out flatly with the statement that he did not think the Forum would be ready for hockey or anything else this winter. Mainwaring further stated his association and military authorities made a tour of inspection of the building and the picture was a bright one. He then outlined several alterations planned and said it was the intention to put the building in first-class shape, but hardly in time for the winter's program. Mainwaring agreed there was a great need for the Forum but was still inclined to look on the possibilities as little short of hopeless.

Vancouver sports writers are up in arms over the affair. Ken McConnell had the following to say in the Province:

"Apparently the men in charge are just guessing. Most of the fans interested in the Forum, members of skating clubs, hockeyists, and just skaters, will wonder why they should be deprived of the opportunity to enjoy themselves just because the directors of the exhibition association are, it would appear, delaying the opening to renovate the big building on a lavish scale. 'This is an emergency season.'

Hockey Stars Join Army

Top-ranking amateur hockey stars and former members of Port Arthur Bearcats, the Laprade brothers, Raymond and Edgar, have enlisted in the Canadian army at Ottawa. Floyd Perras, former goalie with Cornwall Flyers in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, enlisted at the same time. Shown during the induction ceremony. Jimmy Bivins May Receive Army Call CLEVELAND (AP) — Jimmy Bivins, rated by the National Boxing Association as a logical contender for the heavyweight championship held by Sgt. Joe Louis, has been reclassified 1-A in the draft, his co-manager and trainer, Wilfred Carter, said today.

Carter reported Bivins had been working in a local war plant for about eight months "but the draft board apparently didn't have that information when it reclassified him 1-A last week."

"Jimmy is the father of two children and working in an essential industry," Carter added, "and I understand the company will appeal his reclassification."

Goalie Gardiner Will Tend Nets For Boston Squad

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens said Thursday that goalie Bert Gardiner was going to Boston Bruins. He did not give any details of the deal.

Irving said Canadiens would use Bill Durnan, formerly with Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, in the nets with 17-year-old Jerry McNeil of Quebec as understudy.

Quackenbush, who turned pro a year ago, spent most of last season with Indianapolis in the American Hockey League.

Egan, hard-hitting defenceman, who has been discharged by the Canadian army, was in Windsor getting his border clearance papers.

SEIBERT CAPTAIN
MINNEAPOLIS (CP) — Earl Seibert, a member of the 1942-43 Montreal Hockey League all-star team, has been made captain of the Chicago Black Hawks this season, club officials announced Thursday.

Seibert, for 14 years a top-ranking defenceman, will perform this season on the Hawks' first string rearguard with Jack Dye, 200-pound rookie from Toronto.

Dye now is in Canada obtaining his clearance papers for the duration of the hockey season.

Club officials also announced the team will leave Minneapolis tonight for Chicago, where they will open their N.H.L. schedule against Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday.

DETROIT, successful in four straight over Boston in the 1942-43 Stanley Cup final series, has lost seven regulars from last season but the remaining cast is so powerful that Wings have been ranked as favorites in early speculation.

Leafs and Rangers, reeling heavily on youthful and inexperienced players, have not been entirely overlooked in what promises to be a wide-open race.

LEAFS ON DISPLAY
TORONTO (CP) — The 1943-44 edition of Toronto Maple Leafs—those who will play in the National Hockey League this season and many who won't—displayed their wares for 8,750 fans Thursday night in the annual pre-season contest between the blues and the whites.

The blues won the game by an 11 to 8 score—at least, that was the count up until the last minute of play when all 18 whites and the 17 blues whirled into a confusing finale with every player in action.

Four former Leafs who now are privates in the Canadian army donned uniforms in the second period and took to the ice. Hank Guldup and Billy Taylor reinforced the blues and Turk Broda and Syl Apps appeared with the whites. It was Apps' first public appearance in hockey competition since he suffered a broken leg in an N.H.L. game here last January.

Young Jackie Hamilton, who jumped from junior to pro ranks last season to take Apps' place after the popular centre star was injured, was the big goal scorer for the blues with three goals.

Rugby Doubleheader Scheduled Saturday
Rugby Union will stage another of its doubleheaders at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon, with both matches to start at 2:30.

Draw will bring together the Naval College and Army and the Navy and R.A.F. in Barnard Cup fixtures.

With two straight wins to its credit the Army will be after the scalps of the Naval students, last year's provincial champions. Last Saturday the champs went down to a surprise defeat at the hands of the R.A.F.

In the other match the R.A.F. will be after a win over the sailors and second place in the standings.

Army team will be chosen from the following: Van Druten, Bray, Stevens, Gornall, Douglas, Sparks, Wilby, Rhodes, Carris, George, Mallory, Coull, Murdoch, Askew, Cullin, Smith, McMillan, Berry, Chapman and Peden.

That red, white and blue colored wire ribbon you see on the lapels of civilians these days denotes they're soldiers of Canada's Reserve Army.

Sammy Angott Clears Up Lightweight Mess

Aided Boxing Dukes In 1940; Meets Ruffin

NEW YORK (AP) — It appears that for the second time in three years the National Boxing Association and the New York State Athletic Commission have elected Sammy Angott to sweep up the lightweight title mess and make one championship grow where two are now tangled up.

At that, the wrangling nabobs are lucky to have a guy like Sammy around to haul them out of these stews they cook up and fall into every now and then.

Sammy pulled them out once, in 1940, and it seems he started work again night before last when he whipped Slugger White in Los Angeles to take the N.B.A. half of the crown.

Now Sammy is coming east to take on Bobby Ruffin Nov. 29. Bobby has the local fathers on somewhat of a pogo stick at the moment because he recently upset Beau Jack. This hardly makes the bouncing Beau a glamour boy for his Nov. 19 return tussle with Bob Montgomery for the New York half of the title.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Nast November Sammy announced his "permanent" retirement because of ailing hands. Two months later he announced a comeback. The merry-go-round was rolling again. The New York commission sanctioned a scramble between the jumping Jack and Tippy Larkin for the title. The jumping Jack won, but later lost the bauble to Montgomery.

The N.B.A. claimed the Manhattan moguls were guilty of a grade A "runaround" in the matter and withheld recognition from all hands until Wednesday night's California party. Now Sammy's the N.B.A. titleholder once more and hopes to iron the thing out again, meeting Montgomery eventually.

Navy Swimmers Show At Crystal Nov. 2
Swimmers and divers from Royal Canadian Navy will contribute to the program for the bazaar and water show to be staged at the Crystal Garden, Nov. 2, by the women's auxiliary to the R.C.N. Proceeds from the affair will go towards purchasing comforts for sailors and merchant seamen.

In addition to swimming and diving events between members from H.M.C.S. Givenchy and H.M.C.S. Naden, there will be a canoe tilting competition.

In order to stimulate competition, Capt. Murray Goulden has donated a challenge cup to be presented to the aggregate winner.

Bargain Basement Horses Provide Racing Glamour

NEW YORK (AP) — R. A. Coward is a fellow who no doubt believes marriage is a great institution.

This is aside from Coward's ideas on wedded bliss, because in the current case, Marriage is a horse. The California furniture man, turned rancher, claimed Marriage from a race for $5,000 a couple of years ago, and has won $180,280 with the thoroughbred.

It was another example of the horse market mark-downs of recent years, topped off by such cheap buys as Alsab and Market Wise. These two have won well over $500,000 between them, at a total cost of $1,750 for Al Sabath, Chicago lawyer, and Lou Tufano, Long Island contractor.

Altogether, 31 of these horses, picked up for $100 up, have earned bankrolls of more than $50,000 each. Eleven of them are in the $100,000 bracket and three—Midland, Market Wise and Alsab—are over the $200,000 mark. The 31 have collected $2,975,653.

In the lot is a Kentucky Derby winner, Gallahadion, bought for $5,000; Bayview, who hit the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap jackpot for Tony Pelletieri and Doubirab, bred in a stockyard. Doubirab cost Mrs. Tillyou Christopher of Miami $6,000.

There also are such current stake stars as Bollingbroke, Slide Rule, Marriage, Thumbs Up, Prince Quillo, With Regards, Boysey (who cost just $100) and Rounders.

V.M.D. Footballers To Battle R.C.A.F.
First division soccer will present a lone match tomorrow afternoon, with Victoria Machinery Depot scheduled to battle the R.C.A.F. at the Athletic Park, starting at 2:30.

Beaten last week by the R.A.F. the V.M.D. will be out to get back into the running for top position, while the Flyers will be just as keen to win as it will mean hurrying the shipyarders for third position. In two games to date the Flyers have drawn with the Army and lost to the Navy 1 to 0.

Two games, one league and the other an exhibition match, will be played Sunday.

At Bullen Park, East Indians and R.A.F. will meet in a second division game, with McMillan handling the whistle, and at Admirals Road, Navy, will play Yarrows in an exhibition match. Cockerill will handle the whistle. Kick-offs are set for 2:30.

Opinion Not Tough Enough

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
TORONTO (CP) — The army's policy statement that participation in sports events will not be allowed to interfere with normal training of individual soldiers lacked teeth—on the surface. An indication it was not altogether innocuous was given, however, by the announcement Regina Army was withdrawing from the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League "due to restrictions imposed by National Defence headquarters."

Reasons were not given but it's a good guess that Ottawa refused to transfer sufficient hockey players to Regina to make a team because the players would not be moving to Regina in the course of normal training.

That's tough on Regina; not so tough on some cities where sufficient players already are located. Service hockey is generally approved and there'll be no objection as long as players go about their training the same as non-athletic men.

STRANGE SITUATIONS

Non-committal though it appears, the army hockey policy may cover such situations as that raised by Fred (Peterborough Examiner) Craig who writes: "It still does not go far enough. . . . It gets nowhere if an athlete has been shoved into the shelter of a staff job where he is immune from training and apparently from overseas drafts as well."

No doubt the army aims to stop such practices, if they exist. It is probably probing other charges of abuse such as this item culled from the Vancouver Province: "Here is another recent instance the authorities might consider: A hockey player who entered the army to fight overseas won his commission. He was notified he had been selected for a reinforcement draft going overseas and was given embarkation leave. When he returned from leave he was notified he had been taken off the draft and would stay in Canada. Not until he went to his C.O. and protested vigorously, and announced his resolute determination not to play hockey even if kept in Canada, was he allowed to proceed overseas."

Soldiers of Forestry Corps Arrive Here From Scotland

L.Cpl. L. E. Weldon, 78 Linden Avenue, is greeted by the wife he has not seen since 1940.

In the quarter light of a rainy dawn, there were happy, tearful reunions at the C.P.R. dock today, as woodsmen soldiers came home from Britain, where they had been on duty for three years.

There were only half a dozen Victorians, the remainder of the Forestry Corps being from all parts of Canada.

The men looked well, fresh and rested and were among the first off the ship. At the end of the gangway a small knot of women waited; the reunions were so quiet they were hardly noticed by the crowd of people who swarmed ashore from the grey-painted steamer.

Lt.-Col. A. E. Parlow, district forester at Kamloops before the war, came back in charge of the men. He arrived here this morning, as did Maj. H. A. Morley. Both officers had been met in Vancouver by their wives. Col. and Mrs. Parlow are with the latter's mother, Dr. Helen E. Ryan, Battery Street.

"Most of our logging was of Scotch pine, which looks a little like our jackpine," Col. Parlow said. "We handled some larch, too. The trees were small by our standards—the largest wouldn't have a butt of more than 35 inches."

HOSPITALITY

Maj. Morley, who was seized by a happy family the minute he came ashore and went quickly with them to breakfast at his home, 1130 View Street, could not say enough in praise of the people of Scotland and their hospitality.

"They're simply grand—the best people in the world," he said. "They're absolutely wonderful—every house in Scotland is wide open—there's no such thing as a mean Scotsman."

Maj. Morley said about two-thirds of the forestry corps is still in Scotland, but will be home shortly. Among them will be many Victorians, including Maj. T. Guy Sheppard.

"Scotland was swell to us, but it's sure nice to be back here," one soldier said.

The men said they did not know what they would be doing—and at the moment they did not care. They have 14 days' leave and then must report to military authorities for further assignment.

"It says in the papers we're going to work in the woods—as civilians, well, that's O.K. by me," commented a husky redhead.

NEW YORK (AP)—The torch in the hand of the Statue of Liberty shone briefly Thursday for the first time since it was blacked out after the United States entered the war. Occasion for its lighting was the 57th anniversary of its dedication.

Attack Delinquency

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—City and county police have established a special junior safety division to handle this war centre's rising number of juvenile delinquents. Sheriff Robert Brady said that "at the present time children whose cases are actually brought to court are placed with vagrants, drunks and others. In this way delinquency is only encouraged, especially among first offenders."

Prairie Farms Get $6,000,000 in Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced today that payments totalling about $6,000,000 will be made to assist farmers in crop-failure, or near-crop-failure areas in Saskatchewan and Alberta, under the Prairie Farm Assistant Act.

Farmers pay into a fund 1 per cent of the amount received on grain sales every year, and this fund is drawn upon when a crop failure occurs, with assistance from the Federal government when necessary.

Complete or near-crop failure exists in at least 880 Alberta and Saskatchewan townships this year, due to drought conditions.

Mr. Gardiner said the act provides that if there is a stated number of townships in any spring wheat province with an average yield of five bushels an acre or less, payment is to be made at $2.50 an acre on half the cultivated acreage, not to exceed 200 acres, and with a minimum of $200.

There are 160 townships in Alberta and 200 in Saskatchewan in this category this year.

The act also provides that when there is "a considerable area" where the average yield is eight or less bushels, but not five or less, a payment of $1.50 an acre may be made on behalf of the cultivated acreage, with a maximum payment on 20 acres—$300.

Sir C. Roberts Weds

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Charles

G. D. Roberts, 83-year-old Canadian poet and author, was married Thursday to Joan Montgomery, 33-year-old radio operator for an airlines at nearby Malton.

The announcement came as a surprise except in family circles. Lloyd Roberts, son of the noted writer, said the marriage had been "contemplated for some time."

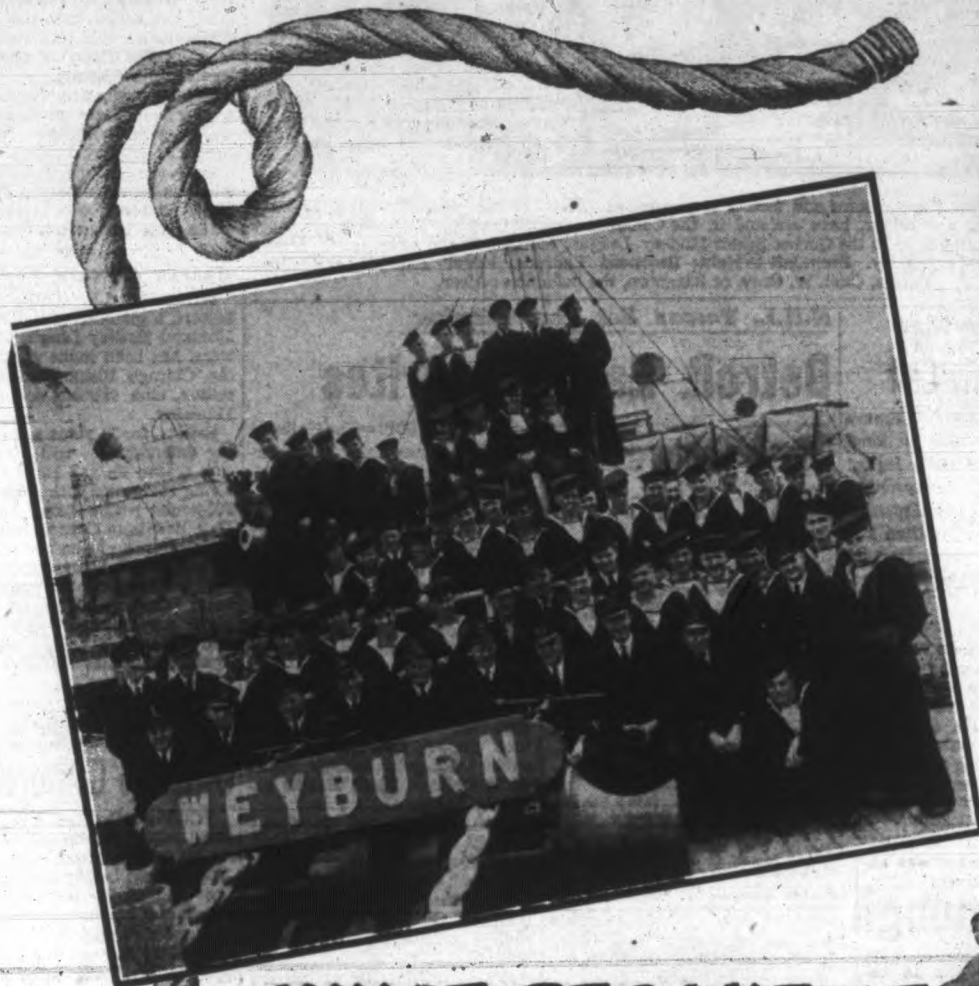

The bride was born in Scotland, daughter of a civil engineer. She came to Toronto 15 years ago and was graduated from the University in Toronto, subsequently taking a wireless course.

WHAT BECAME OF THE SURVIVORS OF H.M.C.S. WEYBURN?

LIEUT. PAT MILSOM, *M.B.E., R.C.N.V.R., REPLIES:

"BY the time 'survivor's leave' was up, H.M.C.S. Weyburn's crew—men and officers alike, were eager and anxious to return to sea. Some of us were lucky enough to get ships and get back into the fight right away. Those of us who weren't so lucky would give our eye teeth to be with them. When the ships your Victory Bonds will help to buy are completed, we'll be joining them."

"There's not a man living of Weyburn's complement who is forgetting the shipmates who were lost at sea, and every Seaman, Stoker, Petty Officer and Officer who is fit for sea—yes and those whose injuries will keep them ashore—everyone of them is truly sincere in his desire to get a ship and get back afloat."

"Our job is still out there. The convoys must still get through if we are to have more successes like Sicily. That's the reason we Weyburn survivors want to get off the beach and go back to the job we enlisted to do—and we'll stay at it until the last U-boat is sunk and unconditional surrender is won."

Just as the men of H.M.C.S. Weyburn want to serve on another ship—just as they feel the importance and responsibility of their work in fighting the enemy—so should we feel our responsibility in pushing every Victory Loan over the top till unconditional surrender is won.

Get the "Weyburn" spirit. Dig down deep and invest every dollar you can in Fifth Victory Bonds—both with cash and from income over the next six months.

*Lieutenant Pat Milsom, M.B.E., R.C.N.V.R., is known to thousands of Canadians as one of the heroic survivors of the sinking of H.M.C.S. Weyburn, a Canadian-manned, Canadian-built Corvette. H.M.C.S. Weyburn had endured thirty-three days of enemy offensive action from sea and air in the Mediterranean when torpedoed, and was en route home after serving in the African invasion. Staying at his post until there was no alternative but to swim for it, Lieut. Milsom, one-time Toronto newspaper reporter, set an example of coolness and aided many of the crew to escape. He was the last to leave the ship.

Brothers in Arms

Sgt. T. C. (Tommy) Jenkins, left, has arrived in the east after spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jenkins, 716 Wilson Street. He recently graduated as an air gunner from No. 3 Bombing and Gunnery School, Macdonald, Man. He received his education at Victoria West and Victoria High Schools. Before joining the R.C.A.F. he was a member of the staff of David Spencer Ltd.

An older brother, Cpl. C. W. Jenkins has been overseas with a Canadian unit for the past two years.

Another younger brother, J. W. (Jimmy) Jenkins, right, is now in the east training as a pilot in the R.C.A.F.

Canada Ranks Fourth In Allied Production

Canada now is the fourth largest producer of war materials for the United Nations and has the fourth largest United Nations military air force, J. L. Hobbs told the Rotary Club Thursday.

Speaking on a Fifth Victory Loan program, during which Dr. W. J. Sillpelt led a brief ceremonial, Mr. Hobbs traced Canada's part in the war. He said by the end of 1943 Canada would have invested $12,000,000,000 in war.

Urging support of the Victory Loan campaign, he said the stronger support Canadians gave the loan the shorter the war would be.

Rotarians sang two Victory Loan songs with Tom Keiway leading. G. Hamilton Harman introduced Rotarians having birthdays in October, while Freeman King urged Rotarians to join a course in youth training.

New Contracts Asked For 44-Hour Week

Victoria Joint Shipyard Council, meeting Thursday night to discuss problems of reverting to the 44-hour week, generally agreed on the desirability of negotiating new agreements covering present and future conditions in Victoria shipyards.

Local unions concerned were asked to make immediate preparations for signing new agreements.

The council agreed that all necessary measures should be taken to protect working conditions and living standards of those engaged in the industry now and after the war.

Date of monthly meetings was set for the fourth Thursday in each month at 8 in the evening. W. B. Caird was elected president, F. J. Bevis, vice-president; T. A. Mitchell, secretary, and W. Matthews, N. Booth and H. Davis, executive members.

Bananas were a rarity in the United States 50 years ago; in 1940 some 50,000,000 bunches were imported.

Japan's New Policy In Occupied Areas Seen As Dangerous

Japan's attempt by clever propaganda to win over the peoples of the countries she has occupied may result in a headache for the United Nations, in the opinion of Katherine Porter, editor of Far Eastern Survey, New York, an expert on Far Eastern affairs.

"Japan," said Miss Porter in an interview at the Empress today, "is likely to create difficulties for the United Nations by her carefully-designed attempts to win over the peoples of the countries she has occupied in the Pacific."

"In this respect," she said, "Japan is going to bother us to an extent that the majority of us are unwilling to admit."

SOFTER TOUCHES

"She is doing it with crafty propaganda and with softer touches than she has used in former conquests," said Miss Porter, instancing the puppet regimes Japan has already established in the Philippines and China.

"This was not something that should be laughed off with derision," she said.

The danger of such propaganda succeeding was ever present.

The peoples of these countries were not over-impressed by the past policies of the Occidental powers in the Far East, she indicated. The love of these people for Great Britain and the United States, she said, may have been overdrawn. If the policy of the United States was wrong before Pearl Harbor, it should not be allowed to continue, said Miss Porter.

"Our ideal was right," she said, "but we have been taught a lesson."

Asserting the immediate problem of the United Nations on the Pacific was to lick Japan, Miss Porter observed: "Japan is not going to collapse easily, you can depend on that. We can prepare ourselves for a long, tough war."

Referring to momentous events pending in the Far Eastern theatre, Miss Porter spoke of the returning Burma campaign under Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten as "terrific." Carefully planned, it would not be undertaken until the moment was absolutely right for success.

COAST PROBLEM

Asked about the Japanese problem on the Pacific coast, Miss Porter admitted it was an extremely delicate one.

She did not think the solution was to put all Japanese nationals on boats and ship them back to Japan after the war, advocated in many quarters.

"Many of these Japanese are American and Canadian born," she said.

"To my mind it is a problem that will have to be handled with carefully considered judgment so that we shall not have to look back on our actions with shame."

Miss Porter is on a speaking tour of the U.S. and Canada on Far Eastern affairs. She spoke Thursday evening before the local branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs.

Lions Club Holds Memorial Service

The "miracles" of World War II—the Battle of Britain, the providence that turned the Japanese eastward instead of westward, and the Battle of Russia—were reviewed by E. L. Tait at a special Canada War Service program held at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club in David Spencer's dining-room, Thursday.

"There have been miracles in our own country, too. At the outbreak of war Canada could send 15 vessels to sea; today the strength of the navy is more than 550 ships," said Mr. Tait.

He told of the Canadian Army whose strength at the outbreak of war was 4,500 men. They formed the nucleus of an army which today numbers 460,000, he said.

"The R.C.A.F. grew from 4,000 to 200,000. Air operations have taken our fliers to nearly all theatres of war. This message is given not to flag lagging courage or patriotism, but given as a message to each of us so that we may carry part of it with us and pass it along," said Mr. Tait.

Vancouver Has 65% Quota; Victoria 46%

Victoria is behind both Vancouver and New Westminster in the intercity Fifth Victory Loan race to fill quotas, having 46 per cent against Vancouver's 65 per cent, and the Royal City's 57 per cent.

Provincial general canvass figures show 60 per cent of the required $49,000,000 objective, while Vancouver Island is barely to the halfway point of her $9,250,000 quota with 47 per cent, according to figures released at noon today by National War Loan officials.

Victoria, Saanich and Oak Bay are substantially behind the dollar-take figures for the Fourth Loan, Denis Hagar, divisional organizer, announced today. Daily subscriptions, totalling $300,000, are required for the rest of the campaign, which closes on Nov. 6, to ensure success of the drive.

Salesmen are working day and night in an effort to boost sales, and every citizen is urged to facilitate matters by being prepared for his arrival, signing up as much as possible with as little delay as possible, and eliminating return calls which are especially awkward due to gas and tire restrictions.

Latest figures on island units follow: Victoria $2,009,050 ($4,200,000), Saanich $433,900 ($930,000), Oak Bay $456,100 ($950,000), Esquimalt $384,250 ($625,000), Cowichan $300,050 ($450,000), Courtenay $270,200 ($450,000), Nanaimo $375,100 ($725,000), and Alberni $294,250 ($620,000).

TOWN TOPICS

A 40-foot boat, the Creta Dona, tied up at fisherman's wharf, was found in a sinking condition Thursday afternoon by city police constables. Police who found 18 inches of water in the boat have been unable to find the owner.

Bail of $500 on each count, with one surety, was granted by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today for Melto Essihos, charged with stealing cars of Anne Theaker and L. Calvert last month. P. J. Sinnott made the application for the accused, with Walter Colvin representing the crown.

The city zoning board of appeal Thursday conditionally allowed E. L. Tait's application for permission to convert 352 Gorge Road into a four-suite apartment, granted Mrs. J. C. Waugh permission to apply for a building permit to build a garage at 865 Heywood Avenue, and provisionally approved plans and specifications of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Spokeky to convert 2354 Prior Street into a two-family dwelling.

George W. Peacock's application to convert 1028 Finlayson into a two-family dwelling was tabled. The board rejected E. G. Ferne's application for permission to convert a double garage on Rockland Avenue into a two-family home.

Two young women, pleading guilty of intoxication on Douglas Street Thursday night, were fined $25 and $30 in city court today, the larger penalty being imposed because it was the second conviction for one woman. Constable Ray Matland said the pair had been a continuous worry to the police, often frequenting rooming houses and Chinatown. An Indian woman forfeited $10 bail when she failed to appear in city court on a charge of drunkenness. A sailor, also pleading guilty of intoxication, said he had been suffering from an ailment and had fallen asleep in a car after having two beers. Magistrate Hall said he would be willing to suspend sentence if the accused produced a doctor's certificate.

Coal Set-up Worries Fuel Committee Here

Grave apprehension was expressed at the V.I. Joint Labor Conference fuel committee meeting in the Labor Hall Thursday night over the unstable prospects of coal production which will further aggravate the existing fuel shortage.

Secretary C. W. Marshall reported on a meeting with the miners' representatives in Vancouver two weeks ago and a further meeting in Cumberland last week, at which opinion was expressed that unless definite action was taken by the government very quickly a work stoppage was almost certain.

The committee was gratified to hear of increased shipments of fuel wood to this area and of extra provision made by the relief officers in co-operation with the regional fuel officer, W. O. McPherson, to provide low cost millwood to pensioners and others in the low income brackets.

The demand for free permits by residents to cut their own wood continues steadily and a surprising number of people are still without their complete winter fuel supply.

The committee has arranged to improve the main road into the Florence Lake operations to make it usable throughout the winter, and any resident of the lower island can apply for a free permit to cut up to 10 cords for personal use by applying to the secretary at 602 Broughton St., E8116, any morning before 10 or on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. Drag saws are available for bucking the wood up and hauling can be arranged through the committee. The extent of the interest aroused over the whole Dominion in the Victoria Self Help Group was evidenced by a letter received from Ottawa last week asking for pictures and further data on the operations.

Youth Up for Sentence Granted Trial By Judge

Asked by Magistrate H. G. Hall today if there was any reason why he should not receive the maximum penalty of six months for theft, Donald Stancil said that when first charged he intended to plea not guilty, but had changed his plea because he was unable to locate witnesses.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said he would permit the accused to withdraw his guilty plea made Thursday to a charge of theft of a hotwater boiler from E. L. Tait. Stancil, who has been frequently convicted of breaking and entering, theft and possession of stolen goods, was remanded for trial until Tuesday.

An ex-lieutenant in the Greek Royal Navy, twice torpedoed at Tobruk and Malta while on convoy duty in the Mediterranean, received the three-star honor pennant on behalf of the Victoria Motorboat Co., Bay Street, from Air Commodore T. Johnson, R.C.A.F., at a Victory Loan presentation Thursday afternoon.

Antoine Costouglacis, now working with the Victoria firm, lost his wife and three children in the occupation of his country. Wounds and shock received during 16 hours spent in the water after the torpedoing eliminated him from further active service, and he came to B.C.

In the short while he has been here, Mr. Costouglacis has saved enough to give a substantial subscription to the Fifth Victory Loan. As a gunnery engineer he is now installing engines and has won the praise of fellow workers by his keenness both in his work and in war effort activities.

The Victoria Motorboat Co. received the honor pennant for 100 per cent co-operation; out of 75 employees, 75 applications have been signed, with a total 126 per cent above the prescribed quota.

As master of ceremonies, J. D. Munro, organizer of the Victoria unit of the National War Finance committee, introduced R. W. Mayhew, M.P., who congratulated the company on its splendid showing.

The flag ceremony was held in conjunction with the launching of another ship for the use of the R.C.A.F. and the army. Wife of Brig.-Gen. J. F. Preston, Mrs. Preston launched the vessel in the presence of employees and representatives of the Victory Loan Committee.

Stay Granted Moyer, Proctor Case Opens

A stay of proceedings was entered in Assize Court today when Harry W. Moyer, charged with committing an act of gross indecency, was called to face trial.

The application for the stay was made to Mr. Justice J. M. Coady by W. H. M. Haldane, prosecutor, on instructions of the Attorney-General, Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, stated the accused had been in jail almost three months and some question had arisen over his ability to return to the force under the stay. If the stay were not sufficient to have him reinstated, counsel said he would apply in a week or two to go on with the trial.

Following that action, trial of John Proctor, also facing an indecency charge, proceeded.

Naval College Here Subscribes $13,050

The Royal Canadian Naval College have exceeded all records for establishments by quota in subscribing $13,050. Lt.-Cmdr. (I) W. Ogle, R.C.N.V.R., is in charge of Victory Loan sales at the college, and his announcement today puts his establishment at 145 per cent of their original quota. In part from tiring examination duties, the H.M.C.S. Nitinat, under the command of Skpr.-Lieut. James E. Moore, R.C.N.R., of Victoria, has set a record for all examination vessels. The 18-man crew have subscribed $1,750. Crewed by Chief Skipper T. H. Hutton, R.C.N.R., also of Victoria, his crew has soared their original quota of $800 to an almost 200 per cent record. Victory Loan subscriptions for naval units on the island now stand at 108 per cent of their original quota. The seaman branch at H.M.C.S. Glenyven continue their spontaneous drive, having exceeded their $14,000 quota, and have now subscribed $17,100.

Fuel Dealers Seek Millwood Ration

A shortage of millwood supply, "aggravated by some large sawmills reducing their operations from two shifts to one" has led the Greater Victoria Fuel Dealers' Association to ask the fuel controller to ration millwood to four cords per household and sawdust to four units per household to insure more equitable distribution of fuel.

The request for rationing was made in a letter signed by J. Lindal, president of the association, and sent to W. O. McPherson, local Victoria fuel officer, Department of Munitions and Supply. It did not apply to commercial premises such as apartments, buildings and hospitals.

"Because of recent criticisms of the Victoria fuel merchants, by individuals and organizations, it becomes imperative in order to protect our prestige that the true facts be presented," Mr. Lindal said today.

"This year local merchants will deliver in Greater Victoria more than 100,000 cords of millwood; estimated 10,000 cords of bushwood; 20,000 units of sawdust; more than 100,000 tons of island and B.C. coal; nearly 60,000 tons of Alberta coal and 100,000 packages of "kolpack" briquettes apart from imported briquettes."

In their letter to Mr. McPherson the dealers stated that bushwood was the only solution to the wood shortage, and urged that a person who could afford bushwood and turned it down when it was available because of the higher price, should not be eligible for "emergency" millwood.

"Our association has agreed to reserve for delivery 10 per cent of our supply for city and municipal distress cases. We feel millwood emergency orders should be confined chiefly to old age, war and mothers' pensioners, servicemen whose husbands are away, and indigents," the letter read.

Since the letter was written fuel dealers of Victoria who were not members of the association have followed the latter's lead and now "10 per cent of all the millwood entering the city will be made available to genuine distress cases," Mr. Lindal said.

"We point out that when all our fuel is delivered there is still a gap between what is available and what is actually required, and so long as this gap exists a percentage of the people will run out of fuel," he continued.

"A strong endeavor has been made to bridge this gap with bushwood and also with extra coal that can be obtained and such government and municipal stockpiles as can be diverted here."

Since the letter was written fuel dealers of Victoria who were not members of the association have followed the latter's lead and now "10 per cent of all the millwood entering the city will be made available to genuine distress cases," Mr. Lindal said.

The woman was Anna Ukroenz, 26, and the man is Fred Zulinski, 60. Police said they were informed the girl was beaten to death with a hammer. Police also were told that after the fight Zulinski cut his throat with a razor.

Yeggs Smash Dial On Baggage Co. Safe

Yeggs broke into the Victoria Baggage Co. Ltd. office at 510 Fort Street, Thursday night, attempted to knock the dial and handle off the office safe, and made a successful get-away.

Company officers at noon today had been unable to open the safe so were not certain whether any cash was removed.

City police said entrance to the building was gained through a rear window, which was jimmied. The safe was moved out of position. Later, detectives found an eight-pound hammer which had apparently been used to smash the safe dial and handle.

Audrey Pettigrew, 2824 Douglas Street, told police Thursday her clothes line had been raided and $9 worth of clothes taken.

Theft of bicycles from near the Atlas Theatre was reported by Frank Carson, 1216 Pandora Avenue, and Leslie Oberg, 923 Johnson Street.

Mrs. H. Sheen, 1744 Fort Street, told police someone had stolen a four-by-four foot baby's play frame from her home.

Canada Appoints Gardiner Envoy To Combined Food Bd.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has become a member of the Combined Food Board, set up 15 months ago by Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt to plan the best use of the food resources of the United Nations, and will be represented by Agriculture Minister Gardiner, it was announced today by the External Affairs Department.

Canada has been represented on various committees of the board. President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill sent a message Oct. 25 to Prime Minister King stating the Canadian contribution in the production field was a source of admiration. The importance of Canadian food supplies made it "appropriate and desirable," they said, that Canada be directly represented as a member of the board, sitting in Washington.

Mr. King replied, accepting the invitation.

Audiometer Detects 2% Hearing Loss

An audiometer similar to one which the Victoria Lions Club is purchasing for Greater Victoria schools, is capable of detecting loss of hearing as low as 2 per cent, Forrest L. Shaw, city solicitor, Victoria Club for the Hard-of-Hearing vice-president and Canadian Federation vice-president, said Wednesday night. Mr. Shaw told a meeting of representatives of the Lions Club and Greater Victoria school boards and parents of hard-of-hearing children, recent tests in Winnipeg had shown 1,550 children of 16,310 with impaired hearing, while Vancouver test showed 10 per cent suffered from some loss of hearing.

The great majority of these cases could be assisted by the medical profession, Mr. Shaw said, but if the impairments were not detected soon enough very little could be done for the hard-of-hearing adult.

A sound moving picture which described the audiometer in operation in a school was shown.

Discussion followed the movie. F. G. Mulliner, Victoria School Board chairman, presided.

To Lift Subsidy On Dressed Beef

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board announced today that payment of subsidies to cover part of the cost of shipments of dressed beef from prairie production areas to areas of heavy consumption in eastern Canada will be suspended Oct. 31.

When the subsidy arrangement was initiated last February, board officials said it would be canceled, or modified, when the beef supply position and market conditions warranted.

Graydon Says C.C.F. Wild 'Promisers'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Gordon Graydon, House leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said here the party under leadership of John Bracken will not back away from blazing new trails, economic or social, if deemed necessary for the national welfare.

Speaking to a joint meeting of the Bracken Club and the Federation of Progressive Conservative Women of Winnipeg, Mr. Graydon expressed alarm at "extravagant promises being made of a new earth and a new heaven."

"There is one party in Canada which already has won the marathon as the best promiser," he said. "The C.C.F. leaders are surely the best promisers."

"There was only one role left for the Progressive Conservative Party, and that is as the party of action. Under Mr. Bracken it is not likely to fail."

Mr. Graydon claimed C.C.F. promises were impossible to fulfill, and were "evidence of a lack of public responsibility."

Msgr. Sheen Forecasts German-Russian Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, asserting "there is no essential difference between the ideology of Nazism or Communism," says "it would be realistic to expect Germany and Russia will once more sign a treaty of peace and embrace in a kiss of death to Europe and the world."

"Russia is at war with Hitler, but it is not at war with the Nazis or the German people. The sooner we come to a realization of this fact, the more quickly can we formulate a policy to meet it," he wrote in an article in the November issue of the Sign, national Catholic magazine.

Referring to the Munich appeasement, Msgr. Sheen wrote that "the world today feels the same way about Russia. . . Stalin now wants the Balkan states. Will he be appeased? . . . Poland is being prepared for the kill. . . If we do make that concession, then will we not have made Moscow the second Munich and unleashed the third world war?"

New Bowling Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—American bowlers had a new high series mark to shoot at today—a 794 posted Thursday night by Harry Kead, veteran Chicago keeper, who rolled a perfect game in his second game in league play.

Kead's mark topped the 770 series by Joe Aubert of Chicago, the season's previous high. He started off with a 257, then rolled a perfect game and finished with a 237.

Elephant Kills Keeper

DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP)—A veteran circus wild animal keeper, Ted White, 65, was trampled to death as he entered the enclosure of an angered 9,600-pound bull elephant Thursday. The elephant later was shot by sheriff's deputies.

Salt Lake City Women Lift Ban On Kissing

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Lovers' Lane is accepting reservations again. The Salt Lake City Council of Women, which several months ago proposed a city-enforced ban of kissing in public places, has decided there were too many objectors.

A group of soldiers in Utah objected. Mayor Ah Jenkins objected. J. H. McGibbeny, assistant Chamber of Commerce secretary, objected; and, finally, the women objected, too.

Said the mayor, "We can't have any kissing moratorium — we want to make the (service) boys feel at home."

The coupe de grace came from a soldier in North Carolina. He wrote: "I don't favor your suggestion."

Mrs. Geo. McGregor Dies; Here 50 Years

Mrs. Margaret McGregor, wife of Capt. George McGregor, 1062 Cloverdale Avenue, died Thursday night at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. She was 78 years of age and had resided in this city for half a century.

A native of Barrie, Ont., Mrs. McGregor came to this city 50 years ago and last year she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding. A devout churchwoman, she was a faithful member of the First United Church and an active worker in its Women's Missionary Society until her health failed.

For many years Mrs. McGregor took an interest in the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of which her husband was a former board president. When the new wing was built she furnished one of its rooms as her contribution.

Besides her husband she leaves three sons, Dr. John McGregor of Bellingham, Wash., Dr. Frank McGregor, Verdun, Que., and Wilfred, of this city, and three grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Frank Graham of Victoria and two brothers and one sister in eastern Canada.

Funeral services will be held at First United Church Saturday afternoon at 3.30, followed by burial at Royal Oak. McCall Bros. have charge of the arrangements.

Dagwood a Hunting In Latest Movie

Six hundred and forty acres of rolling green meadows, a score of world-famous horses and a pack of American and English hounds were used to stage a spectacular fox-hunt for scenes in Columbia's newest "Blondie" hit, "It's a Great Life."

Currently being shown at the Dominion Theatre, the hilarious comedy was filmed on location at an estate near Lake Sherwood, California. Among the blue-ribbon horses to be seen in the film are such well-known prize-winners as "Country Doctor," "Belle La Grande," "Lady Gay" and "Betty Blake."

Menuhin Asserts Kinship With Ysaye

An unusual tale of musical affinity that revolves around the Guarnerius violin of the late Eugene Ysaye, was recently revealed by Yehudi Menuhin, famous genius of the violin, who will be heard here on the Hilker Attractions Greater Artists Series Monday at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

Professional musicians who have attempted to identify Menuhin's big sweep of tone with some previous parallel, have unanimously come to the conclusion that the vanished art of the unforgettable Ysaye represented the closest approximation.

As fate would have it, while making a recording in Paris of Bach's "D minor partita" (The Chaconne), Menuhin's priceless Stradivarius suddenly required repairs which would take some time. But the recording had to go on.

Castling about for some comparable instrument with which to complete the great work, Menuhin was able to obtain Ysaye's matchless Guarnerius.

Then when Yehudi Menuhin put bow to string, there occurred one of the greatest revelations in his life—about the total affinity that existed between him and the famous Belgian.

Tickets are available at the box office in Fletcher's Music Store.

YORK THEATRE
One of the most gorgeous wardrobes in her career is worn by Lana Turner in her first farce comedy. In M-G-M's "Slightly Dangerous" she plays a soda clerk in a dime store, who feigns amnesia, is mistaken for a millionaire's daughter, and gets into all manner of comical complications as a result. The picture is now at the York Theatre.

Robert Young plays opposite her for the first time, and "exposes" her amnesia, after which romance steps in. Wesley Ruggles directed the picture, with a cast that includes Walter Brennan, Eugene Pallette, Howard Freeman, Dame May Whitty, Millard Mitchell, Pamela Blake, Ward Bond, Florence Bates, Alan Mowbray and others.

ATLAS THEATRE
In playing her first romantic screen role, pretty Anne Baxter gave "Tyron" Power his last movie kiss before he entered the United States Marines. Tyron's last kiss and Anne's first really enthusiastic one highlights one of the romantic scenes in 20th Century-Fox's technicolor film of submarine warfare, "Crash Dive," which is now at the Atlas Theatre.

RIO THEATRE
Allen Jenkins is buying a home at Martha's Vineyard, next door to Jimmy Cagney's. Jenkins is currently to be seen in Columbia's "Go West, Young Lady," planned a flying trip to the east coast upon completion of his role. Penny Singleton, Glenn Ford and Ann Miller head the featured cast of "Go West, Young Lady," now at the Rio Theatre.

CADET THEATRE
While working in a scene in "Cabin in the Sky," now at the Cadet Theatre, Lena Horne slipped and sprained her ankle. She was carried from the set by "Rochester."

After Dr. Helen Jones treated the sprain, Miss Horne returned to the set. It was against Director Vincente Minnelli's wishes, but she just had to sing her song.

CAPITOL THEATRE
Hobnobbing with the famous and near famous has always been a habit with Monty Woolley, bewhiskered screen star whose latest picture, "Holy Matrimony," which co-stars him with Grace Fields, is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

One of Monty's closest friends in his undergraduate days at Yale was Cole Porter, the famed composer, who was then studying for the bar.

Florida Lake Has "Spilled Over" to Make Everglades

"There are 'everglades' in several parts of the world, but the most famous are those in Florida. They are known as 'the Everglades' and are of huge size.

An everglade is an open place between trees, with the ground largely covered by water. Florida's Everglades have many tall trees around them, but for the most part they are open to sunlight.

In some places the water is only two or three inches deep, but other places are covered with water more than two feet deep. In the midst of the water are many small islands.

Great work has been done to clear the Everglades of water, but before we go into that let us see how Florida happened to have so much land covered with shallow water.

In the first place, the state is rather flat. Next to Louisiana, the average ground level is the lowest in the United States. The highest point in Florida is only 325 feet above sea level. At this point, near the center of the state, is a hill known as "Iron Mountain."

Southern Florida contains what is supposed to be the flattest section of large size in North America. This section is in the heart of the Everglades, and the land slopes only two or three inches to the mile.

Also in the midst of the Everglades is a lake called Okeechobee. This lake changes its size from time to time. After heavy rains it grows to be larger than Great Salt Lake.

The slope of the land is so small that rivers fail to carry away the extra water which comes in the form of rain. For that reason the lake "spills over" its edges and sends new water into the Everglades.

During the present century large sums of money have been spent in efforts to drain the Everglades. These efforts have met with success. Canals now carry away so much water that millions of acres of the land can be classed as "dry."

A good deal of the soil which has been claimed back from the water is very rich. Fine crops are raised on farms covering ground which was of no use to people. (For travel section of your scrapbook.)

Salmon Pack Down 472,365 Cases

The weekly bulletin issued today by the chief supervisor of fisheries shows the B.C. salmon pack to date totals 1,175,101 cases, a drop of 472,365 from the same period last year.

A run of pinks continues with totals nearly double last year's figure. Salmon totals follow with last year's figure in brackets: Sockeye, 164,858 (663,753); springers, 10,894 (22,101); steelheads, 3,091 (4,542); bluebacks, 14,067 (23,254); cohos, 170,758 (184,682); pinks, 529,064 (269,204); chums, 282,868 (479,928).

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: Last month I lost, through death, a husband who was one in a million. He loved to give me everything, every luxury, and left me a handsome fortune. Of course, I nearly lost my mind over this terrible sorrow.

But here is my problem: I find myself madly in love with a penniless playboy who drinks and spends his small salary over the weekend, but who has a personality that makes every girl fall for him. He has girls galore, but I am slipping so hard I am afraid. I would give anything to get him out of my heart as I know I could never be really happy with him. What is best for me to do? Should I take a trip, or what?

IRENE.

HUSBANDS NEVER STAY BOUGHT

Answer: If you have forgotten your kind and indulgent husband in less than a month after his death and fallen in love with a good-for-nothing wastrel, you must have a phenomenal ability to shift your affections. Certainly your conduct offers a cynical commentary on men working themselves to death to provide their wives with luxury and pile up a fortune for their successors to throw to the wind.

I can only offer you one bit of advice, and you will do well to heed it: The playboys who marry rich middle-aged widows do it only because it is easier to work an infatuated woman than it is to toll at honest labor. So before you marry this smooth-talking, good-looking youngster, have every dollar your husband left you tied up on you so good and fast he can't get his hands on it. Her pocketbook is the only hold a rich old woman ever has on a boy sweetheart. As long as that is full he makes love to her and tells her how beautiful and wonderful she is, but when her money is gone he vanishes with it. The trouble with buying a husband is that he never stays bought.

Will View Mission Following Tax Plea

The city finance committee, accompanied by the city solicitor and the assessor-collector, will visit the Catholic Chinese Mission Saturday morning to determine the merits of Bishop John Cody's plea for tax exemption on that structure.

Meeting Thursday, the committee heard statements by Bishop Cody to the effect the wrong premises had been inspected on a previous occasion.

The committee, dealing with a request from the council to report on a probable surplus at the end of the year, instructed the city comptroller to report on collections and expenditures to date. "We cannot foretell a surplus at this date," Ald. W. L. Morgan, chairman, said.

Found Not Guilty

Thomas O. White, charged with committing an act of gross indecency, was found not guilty by an Assize Court jury at 6, Thursday evening, following deliberations lasting only half an hour.

The jury was the second selected for the case, the first having been released after certain statements, ruled inadmissible by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady, had been made by a witness while the jury was present.

Stuart Henderson appeared for the defence, with W. H. M. Haldane prosecuting for the crown.

Infants, Some Adults Get Canned Milk

Infants under two years of age and adults with a physician's certificate are the only persons allowed canned milk G coupons, an officer of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board said today.

"We are getting an increasing number of letters from people in rural areas requesting coupons for evaporated milk, which is partially rationed," he said, adding that infants and adults who must have the milk on medical grounds are the only ones to whom coupons are issued.

Dealers, he explained, were ordered to hold 25 per cent of their canned-milk stock which could be sold only to "priority users." The remaining 75 per cent is out for free sale, he said.

Ack-Ack Guns Demonstrate Teamwork

Eleven hundred strong, soldiers of the Esquimalt Fortress area paraded Thursday afternoon to support the Fifth Victory Loan, climaxing the march-past at the Crystal Garden with a vivid display of ack-ack gun teamwork. The final demonstration, under Lt-Col. R. A. Goudy, at Beacon Hill Park (shown above) held the interests of hundreds of spectators, among whom were many especially-invited guests.

The R.C.A.F. scheduled to tow sleeve targets for the gun display were unable to participate due to unfavorable weather conditions, but a battery of four light Bofors, towed in by army trucks and set up on the spot, presented a barrage of rapid-fire. Two heavy ack-ack guns were also in action manned by a helmeted crew.

Among the guests at the reviewing stand were Premier John Hart, Mayor Andrew McGavin, Bishop H. E. Sexton, Commissioner T. W. Parsons, B.C. Police Chief of Police J. A. McLellan, Reeve Alex Lockley of Esquimal, Percy Richards and John Baxter. Representing the National War Finance Committee was R. W. Hibernson, chairman of the Victoria unit. Maj-Gen. J. P. McKenzie, M.C., inspector-general for western Canada, took the salute as the troops filed by.

Lieut. Carl Brand, in making an appeal for support of the Fifth Victory Loan campaign, announced that the national objective for the Canadian army of $10,000,000 was achieved Wednesday, and he urged civilians to back up the men in active service.

Make It a Serviceman's Hallowe'en

"The goblins will getcha" this year if you forget to throw a Hallowe'en party for servicemen and women. So mark Oct. 31 on your calendar as a reminder that on that night you're going to make a real contribution to war-time morale—and get some fun out of it yourself.

A telephone call to a service club, the special service officer or chaplain at the nearest camp or training station, will assure you of a capacity crowd.

It's a good idea to put your ingenuity and a few yards of crepe paper to work so that your living room, church hall, or wherever you decide to have that party will provide an attractive background for the fun. Dark crepe paper over the lights, some grinning jack o' lanterns, a few friendly cardboard skeletons and black and orange streamers hanging from the chandelier, will give you the traditional cheerie-cheer effect.

Dress up the refreshment table with a colorful paper cloth, napkins and some crepe paper streamers. But more than likely the guests will be most interested in what's on the table in the way of food.

Be sure that you have plenty of everything and that you keep the refreshments easy-to-eat, unless you are planning to seat your guests. Platters of sandwiches, stuffed celery, pickle, potato chips, pretzels, pop corn, fruit, candy, gallons of cider and stacks of doughnuts are easy to prepare and are always enjoyed.

If you want to do something extra-special in the food line, try desert made by placing a ball of orange ice in the centre of a doughnut with bits of chocolate for eyes, nose and mouth, capped off with an inverted empty ice cream cone to give the effect of a witch's hat.

Dancing and time-honored Hallowe'en games, like ducking for apples, should be arranged. A gala touch is added by having the girls wear fancy dress of some kind, even if they're just playsuits.

There are plenty of games to play that are very much in the spirit of the times. One of them, Midnight Air Raid, is a streamlined wartime version of the old donkey game. A large map, with locations to be bombed, is placed on a wall. The "pilots" are given a paper cut-out "bomb" and lined up opposite the map. All available unbrokeable furniture is piled up between the "pilot" and the target. The "pilots" are blindfolded, turned around a few times for good measure, and then let loose to cross the room and "bomb" the target. Anyone who hits any anti-aircraft batteries, the furniture, is disqualified, and the winner is the person who comes the closest to making a direct hit.

You can turn the traditional scavenger hunt into a worthwhile game by making your guests find things called for by the government in scrap drives.

Or, if you want to forget the war entirely, play a game of "goblin hide and seek." Unknown to the girls, provide the boys with masks of goblins, spooks and other "scary" characters. The boys hide about the house or grounds and the girls have to find them. The fun begins when the "seekers" discover the "hiders," only to have a spooky goblin jump out at them.

Throw the kind of party for service people that you would like to go to yourself, and you'll find that you've given our fighting boys a night of real fun.

Arts and Crafts Display Attractive

Considerable interest has been shown during the week in the exhibition of arts and crafts. A small but steady flow of people have visited the display at the Crystal Garden.

In the first room there is an excellent display of oils and water colors, together with a collection of well-modelled figures and bas-reliefs by Mrs. Gaunt. Water colors predominate and flowers are the favorite subject. Roses by Isabel Hobbs and Dorothy Woodward, chrysanthemums by C. F. Barker, Unity Baile and Gladys Dighton, and delphiniums by Edith Austin, Mrs. Hanna and Mrs. Holroyd. These are all examples of dainty flower paintings. Landscapes in water colors worthy of mention are by C. Turpin, Rose Willis, H. R. Gale, Edward Goodall, C. F. Barker, Mrs. F. S. Leather, Mollie Hudson, Isabel Payne, C. W. Holliday, Elizabeth Charlton, R. Nairne, Mrs. Coton and A. M. D. Fairbairn.

The oil section is well represented by Ina D. D. Unthoff, Stella Langdale, W. F. U. Copeman, J. W. Laing and John Kyle.

The central room is occupied by the work of members from Victoria Pottery Club and Victoria Handweavers' Guild. The beautiful display of goods is characterized by a high standard of finish and reflects great credit on the members.

Prominent among the weavers are Mrs. White, Miss Marjorie Hill, Mrs. S. Coulter and Mrs. Anstey, and among the potters Mesdames Groos, Maynard, McMorran, Grute, Swayne, Hamill and Jones.

In the third room water colors are mostly of landscapes, while one wall is filled with pastels by Miss Hester Wilkinson, Adeline Baxter and Patricia Birley. Outstanding water colors are by Constance Bonner, J. W. Laing, Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Reid, Miss Lettice, Mrs. Young, Miss Crease, Mrs. Sheppard, Miss Bruce and Will Menelaus.

Etchings by Miss Manuel are dainty and free in technique. Hooked rugs, inlaid work are exhibited by Mr. Phillips and a fine display of pewter and

Passenger Cars Show Further Decrease

Passenger cars licensed in September dropped from 1,495 a year ago to 1,123 last month.

Motorcycles have increased in a year from 2,961 to 3,186; chauffeurs' licenses from 18,137 to 20,757, and commercial vehicles from 27,358 to 30,034.

The sale will open at 10 Monday morning.

Last year final results showed 21 properties bought privately and 57 bought by the city. This year's final figure is expected to be below that.

Prices Board Lists Christmas 'Musts'

With thought of the harried housewife, rushing from grocery store to grocery store, in search of the "makings" for her Christmas cakes and puddings, in mind, officials of the Ration Administration, W.P.T.B., at Vancouver today, compiled a list of rationed and unrationed preserves.

Candied peel, mince meat, glazed fruits and fruit juices are Christmas time "musts" that are still listed as "unrationed."

Also unrationed are: Melon cubes, fast frozen fruits (with or without sugar), apple pie filler (105 oz.), pineapple pulp (105 oz.), marshino cherries, raisin pie filler, cream fillings, etc., sorghum syrup, sorghum molasses, canned coconut, lemon and other fruit flavorings, apple butter and canned rhubarb (solid pack).

Here is the list of rationed articles: Jams, jellies, marmalade, fountain fruits, honey, maple butter, honey butter and cranberry sauce, all canned fruit containing other ingredients such as peaches and rice, etc.; molasses (not "black strap"); corn syrup, maple syrup, cane syrup, karo syrup, blended syrup, maple sugar and map-o-spread; pie filler (if canned and made from whole fresh fruits, pulped or in pieces or in sauce form). Exceptions to the last ruling are apple pie filler and pineapple pulp in (105 oz.) size.

WHEN Victory IS WON REMIND MOTHER AND DAD TO GET YOU THAT C.C.M. JOYCYCLE YOU WERE PROMISED

• You have shared in the thanks offered up for our great victories. They have been a big step towards the great and complete victory which is to come—the victory that will mean you can go to your Mother and Dad and say "Now! Will you buy me that C.C.M. you promised 'when the war is over and victory is won?'"

Right now would be a good time to remind Mother and Dad about that promise—they know of our victories and that others are to follow. Ask them to start saving for your C.C.M. because we will start making them again as soon as possible after victory.
